

1935 Sunday Musicales
To Be Resumed as Agnes
Davis, Soprano, Is Booked

Brilliant Young American
Will Be Assisted by John Shelby
Richardson

The Sunday afternoon musicales will be resumed in Memorial hall at the University at 4 p. m., November 3, 1935, when Agnes Davis, brilliant young American soprano, will be the featured artist. Miss Davis will be assisted at the piano by John Shelby Richardson of Lexington. These musicales are open to the public without charge.

The recognition of Agnes Davis has taken a very few years. Born in Denver, the young soprano won national prominence in 1927 as winner of the first prize in the Atwater-Kent Radio contest. She continued her studies at the Curtis Institute of Music and in the season of 1934-35 was starred with engagements indicative of the future which awaits her. Appearances with the Philadelphia orchestra under conductors Fritz Reiner and Alexander Smallens in the operas "Rosenkavalier," "Hansel and Gretel," and "Faust"; soloist with Eugene Ormandy and the Minneapolis Symphony in Handel's "Messiah"; and Mahler's Second Symphony; Victor recordings under Leopold Stokowski of his concert version of Wagner's "Goetterdaemmerung" came last year to this young artist.

America's gift of music to the Coronation Jubilee was the giving of two concerts of American music performed by young American artists in London, one at the home of Lady Astor, the other at the American Embassy. Significant was the fact that the soprano chosen to represent this country was Agnes Davis.

Miss Davis has been selected by Otto Klemperer to appear under him in the near future with the New York Philharmonic orchestra as soloist in the difficult modern score of Alban Berg's Suite from "Lulu."

The program which Miss Davis will present next Sunday is as follows:

- I.
  - a. Voi che sapete (Nozze di Figaro)—Mozart
  - b. Phyllis has such charming graces—Old English
  - c. Sonni Del—Handel
- II.
  - a. Adieu notre petite table (Manon)—Massenet
  - b. J'ai pleuré en Reue—Hue
  - c. Der Nussbaum—Schumann
  - d. Widmung—Schumann
- III.
  - a. "Pace, pace mio Dio" (La Forza del Destino)—Verdi
- IV.
  - a. The Wounded Birch—Gretchaninoff
  - b. The Soldier's Wife—Rachmaninoff
  - c. Contentment—Coryell
  - d. Sing to me, Sing—Homer

SHARKEY WILL TRY COMEBACK

Former Heavyweight Champ Can Beat Louis, Jimmy Braddock, He Says

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—(INS)—Jack Sharkey, former heavyweight champion of the world, has definitely decided to return to the ring.

The ex-sailor today said he reached the decision after seeing Joe Louis knock out Max Baer. "I believe everybody has gone overboard in saying Louis is the greatest heavyweight of all time," declared Sharkey. "There are a number of great heavyweights of the past who could have licked Louis and I for one believe I could have done it and do it now."

"I am still young (Sharkey is 33) and I am going out to beat Louis and then win back the heavyweight championship of the world by knocking out Jimmy Braddock."

His first comeback fight is expected to be staged in this city.

Further arrangements and plans for SuKy's annual giant homecoming pep rally, the annual house-decorating contest for fraternities and sororities, and the recently started yell contest were made at a meeting Tuesday at 5 p. m., in the basement of the Alumni gymnasium.

The pep rally will feature a broadcast over WHAS through the University Extension studios, talks by President McVey, members of the coaching staff, varsity team members, and prominent alumni. The program of speeches and yells will be presented in the gymnasium, following which the band accompanied by SuKy members on a fire truck, will lead a parade through the downtown section and back to Stoll field, where a bonfire will be made. JIMMY WALKER
RETURNS HOME

Tammany's Play Boy Mayor Enters Portals Where He Once Greeted World's Great

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(INS)—James J. Walker, the best-dressed mayor New York City ever had, and one of the most popular personally, arrives home today after three years of self-imposed "exile."

The city he ruled during its gladiatorial boom years—and fled during the pains of its depression hangover—fumbled uncertainly in its preparations to receive him.

Certainly there was no riotous official greeting of the kind he once extended Lindbergh, Ederle, Queen Marie and other distinguished persons. Mayor LaGuardia has been eloquently silent about his arrival.

The only indication that the present administration was aware of his home-coming was the large detail of police at the pier. And police commissioner Valentine carefully explained his men were assigned only because order must be preserved.

DEAN TAYLOR ENTERTAINS

Dean W. S. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor were at home to the faculty of the College of Education from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m., Thursday.

'Bama Coach Warns Tide that Big Blue Is Not to Be Taken Lightly

With most of the cripples back in condition after their two weeks' layoff, the Kentucky Wildcats set for victory, left the Southern Station at 8:15 o'clock last night for their second trip in two weeks into the southland where tomorrow afternoon they will clash with the Red Elephants of Alabama on Legion field in Birmingham.

The Wildcats have been put through a strenuous week in preparation for Frank Thomas' rejuvenated and improved Crimson Tide. Coach Wynne subjected his boys to three scrimmages this week with the freshmen and in the Wednesday workout his charges looked very good.

Best Johnson, stellar halfback and candidate for All-American honors, who has been on the injured list since the Ohio State game, looked extremely impressive in this week's workout. He looks as if he has gained back all the weight he lost while lying in the hospital with an infected leg and he seems to have hit the stride and the pace with which he traveled last season and if he has then Coach Thomas' herd of Elephants will be plenty bothered.

An interesting change in this week's practice line-ups has been that of "Duck" Wadlington and Bob Davis. Davis, who was teamed up with Bert Johnson in what Frank Thomas said was the best pair of backs in the nation, was working out with the "second stringers" under the direction of Coaches Twomey and Grant. In his halfback post on the first eleven was Wadlington. Wadlington has shown great improvement in the past two or three weeks and may be a starter in tomorrow's fracas. He is speedy and possesses a pair of snaky hips. Above all else he can heave a pass as well with his left hand as some backs can with their right. He uses this to a great advantage in throwing the opponents off their balance.

Although Kentucky's chances of victory are very slim, the Wildcats hope to hold down the score and may, with a smile from Lady Luck return to Lexington with a victory. Reports from the Alabama school say that Coach Thomas is having difficulty in keeping his boys from becoming over-confident. After the terrific lacing the Big Blue took from Auburn two weeks ago, the Tide seems to think tomorrow's game will be just another workout. The Kentuckians are not the only ones that have several key men on the hospital list. Hillman Walker and Bear Bryant, ends, and Bill Young, tackle, on the Bama squad have not been in uniform this week but have been watching every play and were in the huddle when Thomas pointed out the team's mistakes and called attention to the ways to increase the effectiveness of offensive plays and defensive laxes.

A special train will leave Lexington tonight at 8:15 o'clock for the Southern station on South Broadway. Kentucky's band will make the trip, arriving in Birmingham about 7:30 a. m. Saturday morning. They will parade through the downtown streets and to the playing field before the game.

EDUCATION PROFS
TO ATTEND MEETING

Dr. C. C. Ross, head of the Department of Educational Psychology, Mrs. Ross and Mrs. May K. Duncan, superintendent of Elementary education, will go to Paris tonight to attend a dinner meeting sponsored by the Paris city teachers. ### IS THE DEFERRED RUSHING MOVEMENT DEAD?

A time veto—many important measures in the Congress of the United States and other important legislative bodies have been killed by this laissez-faire method. It is very often the nemesis of the indifferent and is always a powerful weapon in the hands of enemies.

The movement for deferred fraternity rushing seems definitely headed towards this "way of all flesh" if action in the right direction is not soon taken on the matter. Immediately following the fall rushing season there was great agitation as a result of dissatisfaction with the evils of the present system and the interfraternity council took up the question with a great deal of enthusiasm. However, the fire has apparently died and unless the fraternities become more "deferred rushing-conscious," next fall will find us with the same inefficient system in practice. Such would be little short of tragic, especially since the need for revision is so apparent and is favored by so many fraternity men.

It is therefore time for action through one channel or another. The two proposed methods which offer themselves, namely the six weeks' system and the whole semester plan, have heretofore been explained in the KERNEL, and one or the other has been approved by almost all Greeks. The former satisfies even the most conservative so that there can be no doubt that deferred rushing of some kind is wanted.

Not only will the fraternities profit individually by the plan, but the Greek system as a whole will be strengthened at the university. The fraternities will individually be relieved of the worries and inconveniences of the present short system and at the same time prestige will be added to the fraternity system as a whole by enabling it to eliminate the mistakes which occur in the choosing of new men under the present plan. Let's cooperate, fellow Greeks, and adopt deferred rushing!

DISCIPLINE

At a recent meeting of the Men's Student Council it was announced by Dean T. T. Jones that the council was to have as one of its primary duties this year the curbing of excessive drinking at all university functions. This has always been one of the responsibilities of the council, but special attention is to be given the matter this year, due to the fact that the condition was so much in evidence at the Georgia Tech game.

The attention of the council was called to several students who persisted in the use of loud profanity, which of course proved most embarrassing to everyone in that particular section. This demonstration of culture was climaxed by the throwing of bottles, a practice which might prove quite injurious to an innocent person.

When conditions reach such a height it is necessary for the council to take some action on the matter. Definite plans are being made and the support of higher authorities has been assured, in order that the council might have control over the situation.

It will probably be necessary to expel one or two members from the student body in order to impress upon the minds of the students that such repulsive conduct will not be tolerated at the university. This may seem very drastic, but when the situation demands it, all personal feelings are disregarded. There is no doubt in the minds of the council that this deplorable condition must be averted, and it will be merciless in its drive to prevent future recurrences.

This comes as a warning to all students that no evidence of excessive intoxication will be tolerated at any university functions, whether it be a football game, dance, or some other meeting of the student body. These demonstrations are not only embarrassing to the students, but also give the university a bad name.

No mercy will be shown the offenders in the future, so it will be to the welfare of every member of the student body to be careful of his conduct.

Three unusual courses of study, open to the public, are being offered at Yale this semester. They include a course in "world problems" with current newspapers as texts, a study of the nineteenth century novel in America, and a survey of Western art from ancient Egypt to the present time.

K. M. I. boys will journey to their old stamping ground over the weekend....Home-coming is the occasion....Only four pags today....The advertising department is slipping....Be on the lookout for a big edition next Friday....See where Frank Thomas....Alabama coach....Says that Bert "Man o' War" Johnson and Bob "Twenty Grand" Davis are the two best backs in the nation.

Who is going to win the prize for the best Home-coming decorations this year....Try your best anyway....See some of the freshmen have settled down to steady courting instead of the "fly-by-night" performances of the first few weeks....Wonder how long some of these romances will last....Some of them still fall for the "pinning" gag....It ought to grow old pretty soon....Wish some one would explain just what advantage there is in having a girl "pinned"....Seems to cause a lot of arguments and what have you....Wonder where George will be this week....See he left his horse the other day....Just an also ran....Ohio State-Notre Dame game Saturday ought to be the best one of the year....Wouldn't bet either way....They say that the "Fighting Irish" are not in the least bit worried....May-be they have something on that "Scarlet Scourge"....The new society column seems to be going over with that well known bang....

C. P. Reeves, Mt. Olivet, was a week-end guest at the Triangle house.

STUDENT OPINION

Dear Editor:

I know that the subject of compulsory military training in college has been rehearsed countless times—and the results has always been the same—nothing has been done about it. In the light of this, it seems useless to bring the subject up again. However, in the hope that perhaps, continuous bombardment may some day bore a hole through the concrete of military thought, these facts are presented.

Let us for a moment forget such arguments against compulsory R. O. T. C. as that it creates a warlike spirit; it is inimical to world peace, and consider the matter from a purely practical angle. Millions of dollars are spent by the Government in support of R. O. T. C. units. Is the monetary outlay compensated sufficiently by the results obtained? A student attending a land grant college is required to take two years of military training. During the first few weeks of the practical work, he learns the elements of marching and how to handle a rifle. From then on for the rest of the two years, the work is merely a ceaseless repetition of these few simple operations. Little or nothing new is added. The classroom work is only too quickly forgotten.

Assumedly, the main purpose of the R. O. T. C. is for national preparedness to supplement the standing army. And the present R. O. T. C. fulfills this purpose, but at much too high a cost. Without entering into a serious controversy, we can admit without too much danger of error, that college students have sufficient intelligence to absorb the few necessary fundamentals of military training in a relatively short period of time. Suppose there were no R. O. T. C. units and war did break out. College men placed in a war training camp for one week, under pressure, could learn everything that now takes two years. Why then continue this long drawn out business of compulsory military training which wastes the government's money in unnecessary and extravagant expense and wastes the time of the students in unprofitable repetition of a few military principles?

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By JOE QUINN
Kernel Sports Editor

Not since way back in 1922 has a Kentucky football team beaten Alabama. That's a long time between beatings and Wildcat fans have waited patiently these many years for "the promised land."

Tomorrow's contest at Birmingham will be the 15th renewal of the Wildcat-Tide series which began in 1917. The first year the teams clashed, Alabama won 28-0. Then came a lapse of four years in which the squads did not meet.

Then, in 1922, when Birkett L. Pribble, present freshman coach, captained the Kentuckians, the "Cats" scored their lone victory over the Tide men, 6-0.

When Wallace Wade went to Alabama he seemed to bring with him some magic power which worked with the greatest success against Kentucky. The Wildcats just could not beat a Wade-coached team, and he still has a clean slate for the ten occasions his teams have sallied forth against Kentucky.

In 1932, when they were beaten in the closing minutes, 12-7, the Wildcats came nearest to winning over the Tide than at any time in recent years. That afternoon, the "Cats" fought the heavier Alabama team, and he still has a clean slate for the ten occasions his teams have sallied forth against Kentucky.

Joe Rupert, playing his first real big game, as a sophomore, gave the best defensive exhibition of his career that day, time after time smashing down three and four interferences to bring the ball carrier to earth behind the line of scrimmage. But the brilliant efforts of Ellis Johnson and Joe Rupert were in vain, when, in the final five minutes, the Tide drove relentlessly through the worn-out battered Kentuckians for its second score.

Superior numbers beat the "Cats" that day and superior numbers have proved their undoing in other vital contests. Kentucky has always presented a good first eleven but rarely, if ever, has been able to muster a crew of capable substitutes.

The "Cats" have been lucky to have one better-than-average running back each year. They usually turn up with one or two outstanding linemen, but find that the rest of the forward line is spotty, that is, capable of playing good ball upon occasion, but more often performing rather helplessly.

This year Chet Wynne's team probably has twice as much potent material as usual. In Bert Johnson and Bob Davis, Coach Wynne has the equal of any two backs in the nation. He has Simpson and Hay, two good fullbacks, in addition to Bo McMillan and Robinson at quarterback.

The guard posts have been the most troublesome spots to fill. Joe Huddleston and Hammerhead McClurg, along with Lexie Potter, have had to bear the entire burden at these positions.

The end berths also have been a weak point in the forward line. Captain Jimmy Long has performed in very creditable fashion but Gene Bryant has been hampered by injuries and Jim Goforth and "Duke" Ellington are seeing their first year of service.

In every season and especially during this one, supposedly inferior teams become "giant-killers." Tomorrow, Kentucky will probably go into the battle with Alabama as underdogs.

Any coach will tell you that in nine cases out of every ten, he'd prefer his team to be lightly regarded. It's easier for him to work the boys up to the proper fighting pitch than if they are installed as heavy pre-game favorites.

We would like to tell you that we are sure Kentucky will come back from Birmingham this time with victory tucked in a satchel, but we're not going to do it mainly because we are not sure of any such thing.

Coach Wynne sent his squad through three hard scrimmage sessions this week in an effort to polish up both offensive and defensive play after more than a week layoff. Chet was inclined to be somewhat pessimistic after Wednesday's session and declined to make any statement as to the team's chances.

"All I can do now is hope that the boys click when they get there Saturday," was his only comment on the battle.

And that's all we can do, too.

The two new student representatives of the Athletic Association just appointed by President McVey are Jack Faunce, Triangle, a senior in the Engineering college, and J. Pelham Johnson, Kappa Alpha, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences. Both of these men will serve a year. Faunce, incidentally, sat in on the meeting Monday when the Association decided to make boxing a major sport here at the University.

CREDIT RAISE APPROVED

At the request of the division of special education of the state department of education, Frankfort, the University Senate recently approved the raising of credits in four courses in the College of Education at the University, to assist the department in its program of adult and pre-school education.

Sport Sketches

Langan Hay, that hefty full back of the Wildcats comes from Irvine, Ky., a picturesque little town that borders on the Blue Grass and Mountain line. Langan is playing his third year on the football team, and now is compelled to play his best brand of ball, which he is doing, or else "Sultense" Symson will crowd the Irvine fullback from the lineup. "Hey" earned his varsity "K" last year in track. In high school, was captain of the basketball team. Langan is a senior in the Education college. A member of the S. A. E. fraternity. Y. M. C. A. ... for three years, the winner of the 165 pound class in Intramural wrestling. Likes swimming. ... doesn't care for brown eyed blondes! ... is very, very bashful! ... when in the presence of the fair sex, stands around with his hands in pockets and unexpressed thoughts in his mind. ... thinks a line is something to catch a fish with. ... or isn't it? ... no thirst for that bottle delight. ... a cigarette has never crossed his lips. ... hope coach Wynne sees this. ... wonder what on earth the gentleman's living for! Kiddin' aside, Langan isn't so crazy about the women—three years ago. He went for two weeks without a date—must have been an appendix operation.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM LOSES TO VOLS

Competing for the first time in several seasons, Kentucky's varsity cross-country team dropped their opening meet of the season, Saturday, at Knoxville, when they were beaten 11 to 25 by the harriers of the University of Tennessee.

The four-man Wildcat team was unable to place farther up than fourth against the veteran Vols. Warren Steekmet, Kentucky sophomore was the first "Cat" to finish with John Spragens in sixth place, Jack Crain, seventh and Bill Ford, eighth.

The meet was held before the Tennessee-Centre football game and contested over a two and three-quarter mile course. Tennessee's course is over a gravel road and the hardness of the surface was unfavorable to the Kentuckians who have been trained on turf. Bill Ford suffered a leg injury and was forced to finish at a walk.

Kentucky has already scheduled three more meets for the rest of the season. Besides competing in a triangular Amateur Athletic Union meet in Louisville on Thanksgiving Day, the "Cats" will meet Berea on a home and home basis.

Old Order Gives Way To The New

Like the late Florenz Ziegfeld of Folies fame, the average college man is continually in search of that most elusive quality in the fair sex known generally as beauty and particularly by such designations as "form" and "it".

Never satisfied with the old and always demanding something just a little better, the beauty hunters are seeking that plus ultra in feminine charm—something similar to Cleopatra and Julia of the good old days.

And it is at the beginning of the school year that the "looker over" and "ain't she cute" group can revel in a plenitude of material.

Ironically enough those who rode the beauty's band wagon during the past year are doomed to be replaced by the newcomers who are climbing on this fall. Many a deposed proud beauty of other wars in relinquishing her position of a year ago, will perhaps bestow upon her conqueror such glares of fraughtful meaning as only a deposed beauty can bestow.

But in this particular activity as in any other the old order gives away to the new.

As one of the regulars in the beauty hunt would say, "Freshman girls, take it away."
